

The White House Office of Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships, the U.S. Department of Education, the Corporation for National and Community Service, the U.S. Agency for International Development, and the U.S. Department of State cordially invite you to the

Fifth Annual President's Interfaith and Community Service Campus Challenge Gathering

The Campus Challenge Gathering offers an opportunity for students, staff, and administrators to share experiences, learn from experts, and meet Obama Administration officials who share a commitment to community service with an interfaith engagement component. This year, we are inviting guests from other countries to join us for this Gathering to explore more models of interfaith service and engagement. The event is designed to be helpful for institutions of higher education that are just beginning programs in interfaith community service and for those with long traditions in this work. An important part of the program is celebrating the work happening on campuses across the country to provide students with opportunities to develop lifelong skills in interfaith cooperation and a commitment to community service.
