Do these things actually measure ending religious violence?

“I believe that violence against people of faiths different than my own is acceptable.”

BEFORE

AFTER

Partner with a behavioral economist to develop questions that track behavioral indicators rather than self-reported feelings alone.

Test this methodology on all World Faith programs.

Set up control groups.

We're not done yet.

Disaggregate results by demographics.

Measure reported attitudinal change 1 year, 2 years, 3 years after the program.

Have all surveys translated into all local languages and validated by an independent translator.
