College Scorecard

- Stage of Choice Process: Identifying where to apply
- Launched on the College Affordability & Transparency Center in February 2013
- Designed to help prospective students and their families as they begin to evaluate options for their investment in higher education
- Provides key measures of college affordability and value to help prospective students identify institutions best suited to their goals, finances, and needs
University of Phoenix Online (For-Profit Institution)

Costs

What does it typically cost to attend University of Phoenix Online Campus?
The average net price for undergraduate students is $16,585 per year. Net price is what undergraduate students pay after grants and scholarships (financial aid you don’t have to pay back) are subtracted from the institution’s cost of attendance.

The average net price has decreased 7.1% from 2007 to 2009. Click here to see listings of changes in college costs. Click here to go to the Net Price Calculator for a better estimate of what your costs would be.

Graduation Rate

What percentage of students graduate?
37% of full-time students graduated within 150% of the expected time for completion. Graduation rate data are based on undergraduate students who enrolled full-time and have never enrolled in college before. This may not represent all undergraduates that attend this institution.

Loan Default Rate

Are students able to repay their loans after they graduate?
26.4% of borrowers defaulted on their Federal student loans within three years of entering repayment.

Median Borrowing

What is the typical amount borrowed for a student's undergraduate study?
Families typically borrow $3,730 in Federal loans for a student's undergraduate study. The Federal loan payment over 10 years for this amount is approximately $352.22 per month. Your borrowing may be different. To learn about loan repayment plans, go to http://studentaid.ed.gov/repay贷款/undergradrepayment

Employment

What kinds of jobs do students have when they graduate?
The U.S. Department of Education is working to provide information about the average earnings of former undergraduate students at University of Phoenix Online Campus who borrowed Federal student loans. In the meantime, ask University of Phoenix Online Campus to tell you about how many of its graduates get jobs, what kinds of jobs they get, and how much those graduates typically earn. Visit www.studentaid.ed.gov to explore what potential career opportunities a particular field/degree program or major prepared you to enter. The site has information about current earnings and potential growth in those occupations.
