

YOU ARE INVITED TO A
U.S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
CHIEF DIVERSITY AND EQUITY OFFICE EVENT

MAKING EQUITY REAL

CREATING CAREER PATHWAYS
AND GOOD JOBS IN THE ARTS

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 2024

1:00-3:00 PM

FRANCES PERKINS BUILDING
200 Constitution Ave NW | Washington DC, 20210

RSVP HERE

Space is limited and will be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis.
Please RSVP to reserve a seat.

Join the U.S. Department of Labor and Acting Secretary Julie Su for a discussion celebrating this year's national theme of Black History Month African Americans and the Arts. This event will highlight the importance of good jobs, equity and job quality in the arts, particularly for Black workers. In this conversation, we'll address the critical role that unions play in achieving equity for workers of color in this industry. In addition to a speaking program and panel, this event will feature artistic presentations and an opportunity to network and mingle with key stakeholders.

To request ASL interpreting, captioning services or other reasonable accommodations please email Interpreting.Services@dol.gov by February 22, 2024.