

The USAGM HBCU Experience

April 10, 2024 | 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. ET on Zoom

Join us for a virtual, interactive introduction to U.S. Agency for Global Media (USAGM)'s internship program for undergraduate and graduate students. USAGM and its six media organizations provide unbiased news and information in over 100 countries and 63 languages around the world. We offer internships that build skills in journalism, broadcasting, digital media, videography, producing, research, public affairs, engineering, and technology. This program includes sessions for career development staff, professors, and students.

- » Meet senior leadership committed to developing the next generation of talent
- » Learn about the vital work USAGM is doing around the world
- » Explore unique internship opportunities with our media networks and USAGM Mission Support
- » For Career Counselors and Professors: learn how to prepare students to navigate the application process and how to utilize our speakers bureau.
